

RECALL NOTICE

Simplicity Cribs with Drop Side Rails

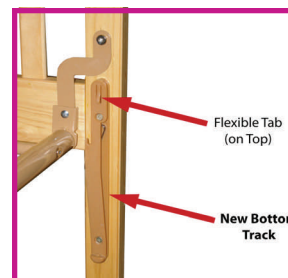

Entrapment & Suffocation Hazard

The drop side can detach from the crib which can create a dangerous gap and lead to entrapment and suffocation of infants. The drop side failures result from both the hardware and crib design which allow consumers unintentionally to install the drop side upside down. This can weaken the hardware and lead to the drop side separating from the crib.

The recalled cribs were sold from January 1998 to May 2007 at retail between $100 and $300. The recalled Simplicity crib models include: Aspen 3 in 1, Aspen 4 in 1, Nursery-in-a-Box, Crib 'N' Changer Combo, Chelsea, Pooh 4 in 1; and the following cribs with the Graco logo: Aspen 3 in 1, Ultra 3 in 1, Ultra 4 in 1, Ultra 5 in 1, Whitney and Trio. The model numbers are: 4600, 4605, 4705, 5000, 8000, 8324, 8800, 8740, 8910, 8994, 8050, 8750, 8760, and 8996.

Part of recall

Not part of recall

Consumers with the old hardware should contact Simplicity for a free repair kit. Consumers with new hardware should check their drop side to make sure it is installed correctly. Consumers who have installed the drop side upside down or have broken crib hardware should contact Simplicity.

1-888-593-9274

www.simplicityforchildren.com

Further information may be obtained by writing Simplicity, Inc.
501 S. 9th Street, Reading PA 19602

In cooperation with the US Consumer Product Safety Commission

Post until February 1, 2008